Murder trial starts today

Washington County jurors will decide Kathleen Wise's fate

CALEN MCKINNEY
reporter@cknj.com

The Campbellsville woman accused of killing her husband with a morphine overdose will face a jury today. Prosecutors and defense attorneys are releasing little information about the trial, however, which is set to begin at 8:30 a.m. in Washington Circuit Court before Taylor Circuit Court Judge Dan Kelly. Kathleen Wise, 61, of 4203 Bengal Road, was indicted in July 2011 by a Taylor County grand jury and charged with the first-degree murder of her husband, Joseph. If convicted, she faces as much as life in prison. She has pleaded not guilty to the crime, and the prosecution has said it will not seek the death penalty.

According to court records, Wise allegedly admitted to Taylor County Sheriff's deputies and a detective that she added liquid morphine to her husband's drinking water June 7, 2011. He died the following day. Wise's attorney, William Butler of Louisville, has said that Wise denies killing her husband. Kelly recently approved a request to move Wise's trial from Taylor County to Washington County after Wise said she believes she might not get a fair trial in Taylor County because of pretrial publicity. The prosecution disagreed.

A push for a statewide smoking ban in public places is getting some help from Campbellsville residents. The Smoke Free Kentucky group is pushing for legislators to approve a ban on smoking in all public places in Kentucky. And Campbellsville is one of the group's stops in its grassroots effort to gain support. According to Campbellsville native Jamie Ennis Bloyd, the grassroots director of Smoke Free Kentucky, the group is made up of the American Heart Association, American Lung Association, American Cancer Society and the Campaign for Tobacco Free Kids. More than 245 Kentucky businesses and organizations, representing more than 700,000 individuals, have also signed on in pledge of their support. Among the list of organizations supporting the initiative include Taylor County Board of Health, Taylor County Head Start, Taylor County Public Library, Taylor Regional Hospital and Campbellsville/Taylor County Anti-Drug Coalition. "We are doing targeted grassroots events throughout the state to spread the message about why smoke-free policy is good for the health of our citizens, but also good for business," Bloyd stated in an email. Betsy Berns Janes, campaign coordinator for Smoke Free Kentucky and advocacy director for the American Lung Association in Kentucky, said the Smoke Free group did a poll in 2010 that showed that 60 percent of Father, daughter take a flying leap for her 18th birthday

'I like doing adventurous things.'

CALEN MCKINNEY

She didn't ask for the traditional birthday party. She wanted to jump out of an airplane. "It is something I've always wanted to do," Christen Johnson said. "I like doing adventurous things. "It just looked fun." Both self-proclaimed adventurous people, Christen and her father, David, went skydiving in Elizabethtown on her birthday, June 30, to celebrate her turning 18. Johnson, worship pastor at Campbellsville Baptist Church, said his daughter first asked to go skydiving for her 17th birthday, but had to wait until her 18th. He had wanted to jump out of a plane until he was 45, he said. At that point, he said, he thought he probably never would. "When she asked, 'I said absolutely. Sure.'" The Johnsons jumped out of a Cessna 210 at 10,000 feet. The free fall lasted 30 seconds.

"But it felt like 10, if even that," Christen said. Describing the experience is easy, the Johnsons say. "Amazing," Christen said. "It was awesome." "Surreal maybe," Johnson said. "Neither of us got any kind of adrenaline rush, which was kind of weird." He said he remembers losing perception of time and space while free falling. And while a person may know they are falling at 120 mph, Christen said, knowing when they will land is difficult.

Tomer sentenced for raping 8-year-old

Sentenced to probation, ordered to serve 180 days in jail for 1999 crime

CALEN MCKINNEY
reporter@cknj.com

A Florence man will register as a sex offender and spend 141 days in jail for having sex with an 8-year-old girl in Taylor County.

Gilbert J. Tomer, 32, of 3960 Wynnbrook Drive #67, was indicted by a Taylor County grand jury last August and charged with the first-degree rape of a girl younger than 12.

Tomer appeared before Taylor Circuit Court Judge Dan Kelly in May and pleaded guilty to an amended charge of first-degree unlawful transsexual with a minor. Court records state the charge was amended to reflect Kentucky law as it was written in 1999.

On Tuesday, Tomer appeared before Kelly and was sentenced to five years' probation and ordered to serve 180 days in jail, though he was given credit for having already served 39 days.

Tomer was also ordered to register as a sex offender and attend sex offender treatment. Court records don't state how long Tomer will have to register.

Assistant Commonwealth's Attorney John Miller said the case against Tomer was resolved during a mediation conference.

"The victim fully participated in the process and she agreed to the resolution in this case," he stated in an emailed response.

"The commonwealth and the victim shared a primary goal, which was to protect the public and see that the defendant had to register as a sex offender. From our side of the table, our primary goal was accomplished through this agreement."

Court records state Tomer was scheduled to surrender himself to the Taylor County Detention Center on July 10 to begin serving the 180-day jail sentence.

According to court records, Tomer allegedly committed the crime sometime between Jan. 1, 1999, and Dec. 13, 1999. Taylor County Sheriff's Detective Brian Pickard investigated.

The victim in the case gave a written statement about the incident, which was entered into court records. According to the statement, the girl, who was 8 years old at the time, was staying with a family member one night in 1999.

Tomer was also staying at the home.

The girl stated that Tomer sat with her while she was trying to go to sleep but woke her by touching her inappropriately.

Tomer allegedly told the girl to be quiet or he would hurt her and then proceeded to have sex with her. The girl told investigators that she hadn't seen Tomer since the incident.

If convicted by a jury, Tomer could have been sentenced to as much as life in prison.

Local officers honored for seat belt enforcement

CPD officers Perian and Jewell, TC sheriff's deputy Dickens recognized by Highway Safety

The Kentucky Office of Highway Safety recently honored 126 law enforcement officers, including several from Taylor County, from 123 agencies across the commonwealth for their efforts to increase the use of seat belts and child restraints.

Campbellsville Police Officers Scotty Perian and Ryan Jewell were honored, as was Taylor County Sheriff's Deputy Mark Dickens.

The second annual Governor's Occupant Protection Awards ceremony was at the Hilton Lexington/Downtown Hotel. Awards were presented to officers with the most occupant protection citations in each agency and division. There are six divisions, broken down according to the number of officers within the agency, plus a division for Kentucky State Police.

"Despite a wealth of data showing that seat belts and child restraints save lives, each year hundreds of unrestrained motorists lose their lives on Kentucky roadways," said KOHS Director Bill Bell, who presented the awards. "These officers, their departments and agencies render a great service for public safety by enforcing our occupant protection laws."

There were 721 total highway fatalities in Kentucky in 2011 with 576 killed in motor vehicles. Fifty-eight percent of those killed in motor vehicles were not wearing a seat belt.

"Our law enforcement is making a difference, as Kentucky's seat belt usage rate increased by 1.5 percentage points in 2012 - to 83.7 percent from 82.2 percent in 2011," Bell said. "However, there is still a great deal of work to be done. One fatality is too many."

According to the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration, seat belts, when worn correctly, are proven to reduce the risk of fatal injury to front-seat occupants by 45 percent and by 60 percent in pickup trucks, SUVs and minivans. Also according to NHTSA, child restraints reduce the risk of fatal injury by 71 percent for infants and by 54 percent for toddlers in passenger cars and by 58 percent and 59 percent, respectively, in light trucks.

KSP get new cruisers

Chevy Caprice cruisers now on patrol

Motorists throughout the state may do a double take this summer as the Kentucky State Police begin rolling out new cruisers with an updated look. The agency is transitioning from the Ford Crown Victoria, which is no longer being made, to the 2012 Chevrolet Caprice Police Patrol Vehicle.

KSP recently purchased 125 of the vehicles, 100 in traditional gray and 25 in tan for use by its Commercial Vehicle Enforcement Division, to begin replacing its aging fleet of 2004 to 2010 model Fords. "Our current fleet is subject to a rigorous maintenance schedule designed to extend the working life of each vehicle as much as possible," said KSP Commissioner Rodney Brewer. "However, law enforcement applications are extremely hard on vehicles. To ensure that our officers can continue to respond to public needs in a safe and effective way, we'll be updating our fleet on a soft conversion basis as current vehicles wear out beyond repair and as funding becomes available." The Caprice PPV is a full-size, rear-wheel drive sedan developed exclusively for the U.S. law enforcement market.

It features a six-liter, 355 horsepower, V-8 engine that provides the high performance needed to meet all the agency's needs.

Local student graduates from youth leadership program

'[It] taught me how to be an effective leader, communicator and listener.'

Taylor County High School student Taylor Agathen has graduated from this summer's first class of The Center for Rural Development's 2012 Rogers Scholars youth leadership program.

The Rogers Scholars program, The Center's flagship youth program, provides leadership and exclusive scholarship opportunities for rising high school juniors in southern and eastern Kentucky and encourages graduates to build their careers in the region.

Agathen was presented the prestigious award for having the highest-scoring application among students who participated in the opening summer session of Rogers Scholars.

The first summer session of Rogers Scholars was June 24-29 on the grounds of The Center for Rural Development in Somerset.

Lonnie Lawson, president and CEO of The Center, and Delaney Stephens, youth programs coordinator and community liaison, presented Agathen with a handcrafted Appalachian dulcimer donated by Dr. Bruce Ayers, president of Southeast Kentucky Community and Technical College, and a $250 scholarship to any in-state college or university as the recipient of the Doug Reece Memorial Award.

The late Doug Reece, a prominent attorney in Southern and Eastern Kentucky, served on The Center's board of directors from 1995 through 2005 and was board chairman of the executive committee at the time of his death in 2006.

"The Rogers Scholars program is changing the lives of young people all across Southern and Eastern Kentucky," Lawson said. "Rogers Scholars graduates — some of our best and brightest students in the region — are our future leaders and entrepreneurs and hope for a brighter tomorrow."

Students apply during their sophomore year and attend the Rogers Scholars program before the start of their junior year in high school.

The one-week summer youth leadership program gives students a chance to grow their leadership and entrepreneurial skills, learn from professional business leaders, and explore their interests in one of Rogers Scholars' three majors, engineering, video production and healthcare.

"It was a pleasure getting to know Taylor during the first week of Rogers Scholars," Stephens said. "Her positive outlook on life is a strong indicator that a Agathen is the daughter of Clark and Kaye Agathen of Campbellsville.

Graduates of the program also earn access to exclusive college scholarship offers from some of the state's top-ranked colleges and universities.

Since 1998, about 810 high school students have graduated from Rogers Scholars, and potential scholarships valued at more than $7.2 million have been offered to graduates from 16 participating partner colleges and universities.

Resident performs in Italy, Switzerland

Performs solo at the Basilica of Saint Maria Sopra Minerva

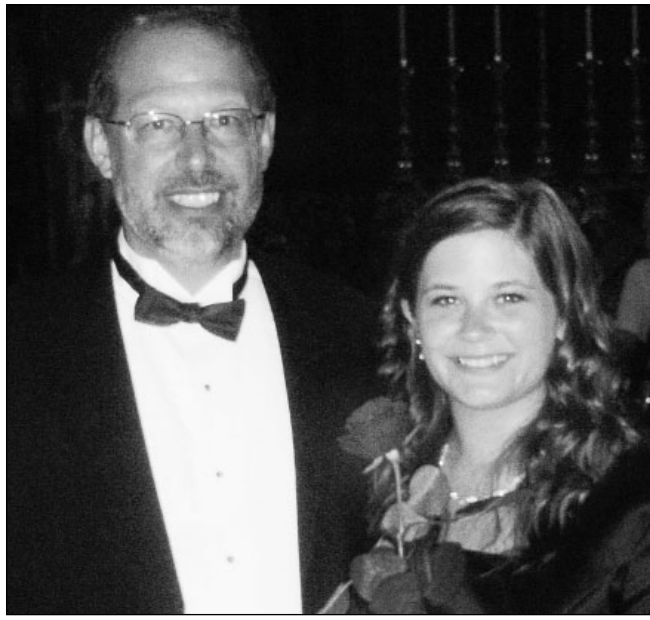

A Campbellsville resident was among a group of Lindsey Wilson College students that recently took a musical journey of a lifetime. The 13 LWC students participated in the Rome International Choral Festival in late June.

The LWC students, including Chelsea Pike of Campbellsville, joined more than 150 other American singers to give concerts at St. Peter's Basilica and the Basilica of Saint Maria Sopra Minerva.

"It's really hard to put into words what this experience means to our students and choral program," said LWC Associate Professor of Music and Director of Choral Programs Gerald Chafin, who led the tour. "It was such a tremendous experience that broadened our students' perspectives in innumerable ways."

Adding to the experience for the LWC group was that Pike was invited to perform a solo at a performance at the Basilica of Saint Maria Sopra Minerva in Rome.

The LWC group also toured Lugano, Switzerland, as well as the Italian cities of Florence, Milan, Rome, Siena, Venice and Verona.

Some of the famous sights the LWC group explored included the balcony in Verona mentioned in William Shakespeare's "Romeo and Juliet," ancient Roman ruins and the Vatican City. They also saw Pope Benedict XVI from a couple hundred yards when the pontiff made a public appearance to attend the funeral of a Vatican official.

LWC had a total of 15 voices in the 172-member choir, including the 13 LWC students and alumnus Tyler McCubbins and Gerald Chafin.

To make the trip the students paid a good portion of the cost with the remainder covered by donations from LWC alumni and friends.

CAMPBELLVILLE MIDDLE SCHOOL CHOIR recently performed its spring musical. The choir is directed by Nicole Matthews.

CU helps the environment, saves on energy costs

Several projects have been completed

JOAN C. MCKINNEY
Campbellsville University

Campbellsville University is using more and more "green" initiatives to use resources more effectively.

CU, in construction of new residence halls and in how energy is used daily, is fostering a sense of earth stewardship in all that is done on campus.

"Campbellsville University strives to use our environmental resources wisely and to God's glory," Dr. Michael V. Carter, president of CU, said. "Our strategic plan calls for us to always evaluate energy consumption on campus and to develop a plan for generating greater efficiency and savings," he said.

A new men's residence village will be open in August and will offer many energy initiatives, including 2x6 construction allowing for better insulated walls, R40 insulation in all roof areas, high efficiency HVAC equipment, programmable thermostats, high efficiency water heaters, water saving toilets, faucets and showers heads, compact fluorescent lighting and high efficiency windows.

One of the most environmental friendly components is a complicated watershed system on the men's villages that have had numerous environmental factors, according to Steve Morris, director of maintenance operations.

The university has implemented an underground retention system, which stores about 10,000 gallons of water collected from run-off on campus. This provides control of water being discharged into Buckhorn Creek and also serves as water storage for the university's irrigation system.

Marion Hall, director of special projects, said based on the water conservation plan that has been completed, the university is saving more than 600,000 gallons of water monthly with the same amount saved in sewage costs. Cost is based on usage.

"Savings in all of the areas in which the plan was implemented should be around 47 percent compared to earlier usage amounts," Hall said.

Hall and Otto Tennant, vice president for finance and administration, have worked across campus in lighting, ballast, toilets, urinals, heating and air conditioning, to provide additional energy savings.

Hall said the university is using high efficiency HVAC systems that should be saving CU about 40 percent in gas and electric costs. New LED lights are being used around campus which produce a reduction in electricity, according to Tennant. Rob Roberts, director of landscape development, is using paving stones instead of hard-surface materials like concrete or blacktop. The stones allow water to seep beneath the surface instead of running off into the city storm system.

CU's Master's in Social Work degree program accredited

Council on Social Work Education gives stamp of approval

JOAN C. MCKINNEY
Campbellsville University

The Council on Social Work Education has accredited Campbellsville University's Carver School of Social Work's Master of Social Work program.

"Accreditation is a challenging process, yet it provides a level of assurance that the program is delivering a curriculum consistent with professional social work standards," Dr. Darlene Eastridge, dean of the Carver School of Social Work and Counseling, said.

"The recognition of the Carver School's MSW program as a Council on Social Work Education accredited program adds a level of confidence that Campbellsville University is delivering a quality social work program at the undergraduate and graduate levels."

Dr. Michael V. Carter, president of CU, said, "This is a major step forward in the growth of the Carver School of Social Work at Campbellsville University. When the Carver School was first transferred to Campbellsville University, we worked hard to build and receive accreditation for the bachelor's of social work and to make that program one that was fully recognized as a quality and highly-respected program of study."

"... We believe that the Carver School of Social Work, as it has grown and matured at Campbellsville University since 1998, is stronger than ever in its rich history of preparing Christian social workers."

LIBRARY NEWS

Bonnie Webster is the programmer at Taylor County Public Library. She can be reached at 465-2562.

Construction begins on new library project

Construction has begun on the future site of the Taylor County Public Library! Yeah!

Our building plans were finally approved by the state, and construction has begun. You can keep up with the building's process on our website at www.taylorcountypubliclibrary.org or by searching for Taylor County Public Library on Facebook. We will be updating both sites with new pictures.

Our summer reading program was a great success with 568 children signing up this year.

Our teen winner of the Kindle reader was Dayja Whitley, and the adult winner was Judy Wise.

The winners of the summer baskets were Jacob Greenwell, Ezekiel Bell and Colton Gravel.

The final reading program was a blast with the blowups and the great water fight between the children and the librarians. I think the water fight was a tie with both sides having lots of fun and getting cooled off that hot summer afternoon. Can't wait till next year when we will be able to have our programs at the new library.

With summer winding down and school about to start, the library will not be having our regular story hour during the month of August. We will finish out the month of July with story hour each Thursday for pre-schoolers from 10:30 to 11:30 a.m. and for elementary students from 3:30 to 4:30 p.m.

With school about to start, be sure to take a look at our website and check out our Ellison die list. The Ellison machine can cut out five die cuts at one time. This is a very useful tool when you need multiple copies of something.

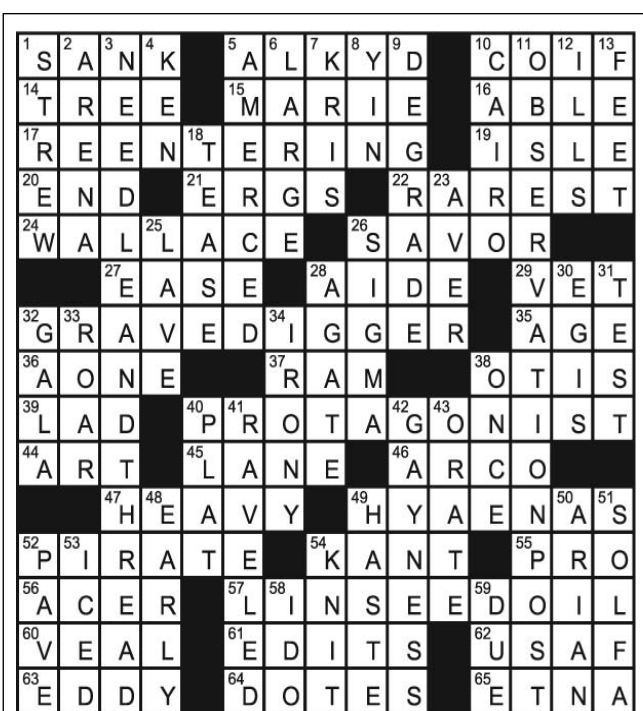

Keep up with the newest books that the library has to offer by checking out the library's website. You can also download e-books from our site.

James Higdon, author of "Cornbread Mafia," will be at the library on Friday, Aug. 10, at 5 p.m.

The book is about a homegrown syndicate's code of silence and the biggest marijuana bust in American history. Tickets are required. They are free and can be picked up at the library. There is a limit of two per person.

Come meet James Higdon, have your book signed and there will be a question and answer time.

Happy reading!

'Cornbread Mafia' author to speak at public library

Free tickets are available

"Cornbread Mafia" author James Higdon will come to Taylor County Public Library on Friday, Aug. 10, at 5 p.m. for a question and answer session and book signing.

The book details a homegrown syndicate's code of silence and the biggest marijuana bust in American history.

In the summer of 1987, Johnny Boone set out to grow and harvest one of the greatest outdoor marijuana crops in modern times. In doing so, he set into motion a series of events that defined him and his associates as the largest homegrown marijuana syndicate in American history, known as the Cornbread Mafia.

Higdon's relationship with Boone, who is currently a federal fugitive, made him the first journalist subpoenaed under the Barack Obama administration. Higdon takes readers back to the 1970s and 1980s and the clash between federal and local law enforcement and a band of Kentucky farmers with moonshine and pride in their bloodlines.

Higdon has worked for the Courier Journal in Louisville and the New York Times and contributed to The Prairie Home Companion.

The son of state Sen. Jimmy Higdon, R-Lebanon, he lives in Lebanon and Brooklyn, New York.

Tickets are required to attend the event and are available at the library. Tickets are free. There is a limit of two per person.

Child Find for Children with Disabilities in Need of Special Education or 504 Services

Child Find

The Taylor County School District keeps educational records in a secure location in each school and Board office.

The Taylor County School District obtains written consent from a parent or eligible student (age 18 or who is attending postsecondary institution), before disclosing personally identifiable information to an entity or individual not authorized to receive it under FERPA.

For students who have been determined eligible for Special Education, educational records will be destroyed at the request of the parents when they are no longer needed to provide educational programs or services. The Taylor County School District may destroy the educational records of a child without parent request (5) five years after they are no longer needed to provide educational programs or services. Parents are advised that data contained in the records may later be needed for Social Security benefits or other purposes. The Taylor County School District may retain, for an indefinite period of time, a record of the student's name, address, telephone number, grades, attendance records, classes attended, grade level completed, and year completed.

Children eligible for Special Education include those children with disabilities who have autism, deaf-blindness, developmental delay, emotional-behavior disability, hearing impairment, mental disability, multiple disabilities, orthopedic impairment, other health impairment, specific learning disability, speech or language impairment, traumatic brain injury, or visual impairment and who because of such an impairment need Special Education services.

Children eligible for 504 services include those children in a public elementary and secondary education program who have a current physical or mental impairment that currently substantially limits some major life activity which causes the student's ability to access the school environment or school activities to be substantially limited.

Children eligible for the State-Funded Preschool program include three- and four-year old children identified with disabilities and four-year-old children who are at-risk, as defined by federal poverty levels up to 150%. Preschool children eligible for special education must have an Individual Education Plan (IEP) instead of 504 plan to receive State-Funded Preschool program services.

The Taylor County School District has an ongoing "Child Find" system, which is designed to locate, identify, and evaluate any child residing in a home, facility, or residence within its geographical boundaries, age three (3) to twenty-one (21) years, who may have a disability and be in need of Special Education or 504 services. This includes children who are not in school; those who are in public, private, or home school; those who are highly mobile such as children who are migrant or homeless; and those who are advancing from grade to grade, who may need but are not receiving Special Education or 504 services.

The district's "Child Find" system includes children with disabilities attending private or home schools within the school district boundaries who may need special education services.

The Taylor County School District will make sure any child enrolled in its district who qualifies for Special Education or 504 services, regardless of how severe the disability, is provided appropriate Special Education or 504 services at no cost to the parents of the child.

Parents, relatives, public and private agency employees, and concerned citizens are urged to help the Taylor County School District find any child who may have a disability and need Special Education or 504 services. The District needs to know the name and age, or date of birth of the child, the name, address, and phone number(s) of the parents or guardian; the possible disability; and other information to determine if Special Education or 504 services are needed.

Letters and phone calls are some of the ways the Taylor County School District collects the information needed. The information the school District collects will be used to contact the parents of the child and find out if the child needs to be evaluated or referred for Special Education or 504 services.

If you know of a child who lives within the boundaries of the Taylor County School District, who may have a disability, and may need but is not receiving Special Education or 504 services, please call Taylor County Schools or send the information to:

Any information the District collects through "Child Find" is maintained confidentially.

TRIPPING TO L.L. STATE

Following kids
and grandchildren
in post-season playBOBBY BROCKMAN
sports@cknj.com

Three sets of grandparents felt a bit younger last week as they followed the Campbellsville 10- and 11-year-old All Stars in their quest for state titles in Prestonsburg.

One might be the mother of local Little League Baseball, three of them needed an itinerary to keep up with who was where and another worked during the day and watched baseball at night.

"I guess you're a professional at this," Mae Kearney said some folks had told her. "I've never counted, but I've been to a lot of these games."

Kearney, the widow of long-time Little League Twins' and all-star coach Robert Kearney, has her entire family with her when she attends post-season play. Sons Lynn and Shiny coached, grandsons Ryan and K.J. played meaning daughter-in-laws Lisa Kearney and Angie Kearney would be there along with daughter Libby and son-in-law Randy Riggs, who helps Lynn with the 11-year-old team.

"I'm just thankful the good Lord let me stay here this long to enjoy it and I like to think he's (Robert) looking down on these grandkids."

Robert passed away in Feb. 2001, about 18 months after Ryan Kearney (11-year-old All Star) was born.

"Robert called him papaw's little man, but he knew he wouldn't get to be around him very much."

"With three brothers, I've been around baseball my entire life," Loretta Hash said after watching son Garin coach and Arren play for the Campbellsville 10s. "That's all I know during the summer."

"It did bring back memories. I feel for them. We just say a prayer before they play for them to just do their best."

Judy Cox, center, and Loretta and Gary Hash, far right, juggled their schedules back and forth to watch Arren, the son of coach Garin and Tammy Hash, play in the 10-year-old State Tournament in Prestonsburg and Austin play in a tournament in Indianapolis before practicing football at Campbellsville High School.

Mae Kearney has probably seen more Little League tournaments than any woman in Campbellsville. She's shown here with sons Shiny and Lynn and grandsons K.J. and Ryan, who were on the Campbellsville 10- and 11-year-old All Star teams, respectively, in Prestonsburg.

Campbellsville's two Little League State Tournament teams were eliminated in the single-elimination round on Thursday in Prestonsburg.

The 10-year-olds fell to North Oldham 13-5 while the 11s lost to Franklin-Simpson 4-1.

Campbellsville 10s got three hits from Nicholas Knifley, who pitched the final four innings, a single and home run from Dawson Cole and two singles by Noah Hughes, who tossed the first two frames. However, it was not enough for Campbellsville to advance to the title tilt. John Orberon, Hunter Maupin, Blake

Allen, Arren Hash and K.J. Kearney added singles.

In the 11-year-old game, Campbellsville led in the first on singles by Ryan Kearney and Chanson Atkinson and Kearney scored after a stolen base and throwing error.

Franklin-Simpson had all four of their hits in the second inning.

Kearney and Atkinson added third-inning singles for Campbellsville, who got four innings of pitching from Lane Bottoms and two by D.J. Goodin.

Campbellsville scored two runs in the sixth inning to win its last pool game 7-6 over Lexington Eastern on Wednesday.

With two outs in the third, Jackson

Hinton reached on error before Kearney and Atkinson singled and Bottoms had a three-run triple on his birthday.

In the fourth, Wyatt Houk and Treyce Mattingly walked before Hinton and Kearney knocked in runs with a ground-out and single.

In the sixth, Goodin and Griffin Hall singled, Grant McQueary reached on error and Hinton walked to tie the game. Kearney's RBI single was the game-winner.

Kearney pitched the first 4 1/3 innings with Tate Morris getting the win by recording the final five outs.

In post-season play, Kearney led the 11s with a .534 average while Bottoms hit .455 and Atkinson .415. In state tourney action, Kearney hit .600 and Atkinson .538.

Three athletes with area ties have been huge in the sports news this summer in Indiana, Kentucky and Tennessee.

Kacy Gorin scored the game-winning goal in overtime as Carmel (Ind.) High School captured the state lacrosse championship 12-11 over Culver Academy, who had beaten Carmel 9-8 during the season.

Gorin is the daughter of Mark Gorin, a 1984 Taylor County High School graduate, and the granddaughter of Betty Jane Gorin-Smith and the late Donnie Gorin.

The sophomore midfielder fought back from a stress fracture in her back to help lead the school to its second straight state title. (The Greyhound boys' squad also has won back-to-back state crowns.)

Kayla Gaines, the daughter of Denise (Dunlap) Gaines formerly of Campbellsville, and Herb Gaines and the granddaughter of Phil and Faye Williams of Campbellsville, claimed the Level 6, 12-year-old State Gymnastics champion title at Western Hills in Frankfort recently.

Gaines, a member of the Champion Gymnastics Team in Louisville, was first in on-the-floor and bar events and took second on the vault and beam.

Her combined all-around score of 36.40 gave her the first-place trophy and title of state champ.

Gaines was recognized at the Seventh Annual USAG-Kentucky Awards Banquet for having the highest floor score of all Level 6 gymnasts at the state meet. She was also the Level 5, 10-year-old State Champion in 2010.

Holden Mobley is the son of former Campbellsville Eagle basketball player Jeff Mobley (CHS 1975) and the grandson of Russ and Carol Mobley of Campbellsville.

In the May 31, 2012 edition of The Bell Ringer, the student publication for Montgomery Bell Academy near Nashville, Mobley was highlighted as one of the Twelve

CU hosts Athletic Boosters Auction on Aug. 9

Campbellsville University will hosts its eighth annual Athletic Booster Club auction and dinner on Aug. 9. in the Winters Dining Hall.

The event will begin at 6 p.m. with the silent auction items (approximately 20) open for bid and the meal scheduled to start at 6:30 in the Winters Dining Hall on campus. Toward the end of the meal, a live auction will feature approximately 30 items, which include sports collectibles, golf outings and vacation destinations. Some of the most popular vacation spots include a week-long trip to a three-bedroom condo in Naples and a week's stay in Aruba.

Pioneer College Caterers will once again provide the meal for the auction with a planned menu of bacon-wrapped beef tenderloin with grilled shrimp skewers, loaded mashed potatoes, fresh green beans and a field greens salad with a strawberry vinaigrette.

Each year, the auction helps kick off the upcoming university athletics calendar and booster club fund-raising efforts. Over the past five years, the event has brought in more than $60,000 and has seen a steady increase each year. Last year, the Campbellsville community and university alumni and friends set a record by raising more than $18,000 with 18 event sponsorships — a major increase from more than $7,000 and three sponsorships in 2007.

The cost is $25 per person and the attire is business casual. Tickets are on sale through Aug. 3 and are being sold by CU coaching staffs, Big Maroon Club members and the CU office of development.

For more information, contact Chuck Vaughn, director of the Big Maroon Club (789-5149) or Karen Fawcett (789-5257). Tax deductions are also available for sponsorships and donated auction items. For more info on being a sponsor (Gold $500, Silver $250, Bronze $125) or donating an auction item, contact the CU office of development at 270-789-5211.

All proceeds from the night go to Campbellsville University's 24 varsity athletic programs. Auctioneers for the night will be Campbellsville's own John Kessler and Rufus Hansford.

Campbellsville High School through 1965, has been around baseball for many years and said it was “more relaxing” watching his grandchildren than it was his sons, Garin and Griffin.

“It's just more enjoyable with your grandkids,” Gary said.

Gary's weekend started along with Loretta and daughter-in-law Tammy Hash with a trip to Indianapolis where 14-year-old Austin Hash played for the Kentucky Baseball Club in a 14-and-under tournament.

Gary stayed back with Austin as Loretta and Tammy headed to Prestonsburg for Arren's games and were joined by Tammy's mother, Judy Cox, who made several back-and-forth trips to the state.

Gary brought Austin back to Campbellsville for football practice before heading to Prestonsburg on Thursday.

Jim Noe's path to watch his grandsons, Grant McQueary and Tate Morris, nearly took him to Tennessee on business.

Instead, Noe called on clients from Monday through Thursday in Eastern Kentucky.

“It was business during the day and ball games at night,” Noe laughed. “I still get into it just as much as when (son) Jamie played.

“It has been great having Grant and Tate on the same team this summer plus on All Stars.

“It's been a great year. I'm really proud of all of them.”

“It was sad for everybody involved,” Judy Cox said after both teams were eliminated. “But, it's been a super summer of baseball.”

The trial will begin with jury selection and then move to opening statements and witness testimony.

Court records state that officials have asked that Wise be transported from the Taylor County Detention Center, where she is currently housed, to the Washington County Judicial Center today and tomorrow.

Commonwealth's Attorney Tim Cocanougher, the prosecutor in the case, said letters were mailed to 120 potential jurors in Washington County. He said the trial is set to take two to three days.

Cocanougher declined to comment on whether Wise will testify in her own defense. He also declined to comment on whether he believes the prosecution has a strong case against Wise. Cocanougher did not reveal how many witnesses he intends on calling, though court records state that about 10 were added and subpoenaed last week.

Butler did not return phone calls and emails from the News-Journal office to comment for this story.

According to court records, the prosecution and defense have attempted to mediate the case but were unsuccessful.

Wise was first scheduled to face a jury of her peers in May. However, her trial was rescheduled after a witness wasn't available to testify.

Wise is a former registered nurse at Medco Nursing Home, now Campbellsville Nursing and Rehabilitation Center. The criminal charge against Wise stems from a toxicology investigation into her husband's death. Mr. Wise died June 8, 2011, from a supposed heart attack. Routine toxicology tests revealed he consumed a fatal dose of morphine.

Taylor County Coroner Terry Dabney gave the toxicology reports to the Taylor County Sheriff's Office and deputies began investigating.

Court records state that a toxicology report found 5,738 ng/ml of morphine in Joseph Wise's blood and 1,359 ng/ml in his urine. The normal therapeutic ranges, according to court records, are from 10 to 80 ng/ml.

• An indictment is a legal accusation only. It does not establish guilt.

Leap: Father, daughter skydive for birthday

"Because when you're going down, you can't tell if the ground is getting closer," she said.

Johnson said his pulse accelerated as the plane continued to climb higher, but that was nothing like what he had imagined.

Neither said they were scared to jump, but Johnson said it was a bit scary to see his youngest daughter sitting on the edge of a small airplane, ready to jump.

"She was sitting on the edge of the plane, and then she was gone," he said.

Christen said she describes that as her dad's "father moment" of the experience.

The Johnsons had about a half hour of training before jumping and learned to be ready to pull their ripcord at 5,000 feet and how to correctly exit the airplane.

During the free fall, the instructors who jumped with the Johnsons got them to circle each other in the air.

"That was kind of cool," Christen said. "You really don't think of yourself as being high."

She said she remembers sitting in the plane and watching as it got higher and higher. Christen asked once how high they were and was told they were only a quarter of the way there.

"The closer I got to 10,000 feet, I was like, 'OK, what am I doing?'"

Christen's landing was perfect, but her dad had to slide a bit when he landed.

She says she wanted to skydive with her dad because she knew he would be willing to do it with her.

"I don't think I would have done it if he didn't want to," she said. "I knew he'd do it."

Johnson said his other daughters asked for parties with cake and ice cream for their birthdays.

"And Christen wants to jump out of a plane," he said. "Everybody got what they wanted."

The Johnsons say they spend as much time together as they can, especially now that Christen will be leaving for college soon.

"We're a close family," Johnson said.

Christen graduated from Campbellsville High School in May. She will attend Murray State University in the fall to study art.

"And now she grows up," Johnson said. "Jumping out of an airplane is easy. Living's tough."

The Johnsons said those who don't know them well might be surprised to learn that they went skydiving, but not those close to them. And they say they would both do it again.

Johnson said, "But if I never do it again, I can say I've done it. At least once."

Christen said her dad being willing to jump out of a plane proves how much of a cool dad he is. But that isn't news to her.

"He's always been a cool dad," she said.

donations collected by the local Fraternal Order of Police Lodge #22.

The FOP solicited donations from local businesses and organizations to purchase the school supplies and clothing. In all, about $4,700 was collected.

Last year, 20 students received new school gear with $4,000 the FOP group collected.

Local school officials gathered the names of students who were most in need, and on Thursday they went shopping at Walmart with local court security officers and Taylor County Sheriff's deputies.

From school supplies, new shoes and socks to pants, shirts, belts and underwear, the students each received about $200 worth of items. Taylor County Sheriff's Deputy Bob Foley is the lodge's president. Sheriff's Deputy Rodney Cox is vice president. Court Security Officer Paul Lacy is secretary.

Nearing checkout time, one of the students looks over his cart and makes sure he has what he wants. He was able to find shoes with a skull on them in his size, which was just what he wanted.

At checkout, a boy sets his new clothing to be totaled. He has two new pairs of shoes and several new shirts.

"Thank you very much," his mother said.

FOP officers respond with, "You're welcome," and wish the boy good luck. He will be a freshman in high school in just a few days.

"Have a good school year," they say.

Ban: Statewide smoking ban sought

those participating support a statewide smoke-free law.

The Smoke Free Kentucky group began in 2009, Janes said, after Senate President David Williams introduced the idea of a statewide smoke-free law.

In support of the law, State Rep. Susan Westrom, D-Fayette, introduced a comprehensive statewide smoke-free bill in 2011 and during this past legislative session. The measures weren't approved, though Janes says Westrom intends to file another bill next legislative session, which begins in January.

"We aim to pass a statewide smoke-free bill that covers all indoor workplaces and public places, including bars and restaurants," Janes said.

To accomplish that goal, Smoke Free Kentucky officials have traveled all over the state educating people about the effects of smoking. In all, the group has spoken to more than 3,000 people.

The group had a meeting in Campbellsville last month and will come to town again on Wednesday, Aug. 8, for a presentation at Campbellsville Rotary Club's weekly meeting. The meeting is for members only, though current member can invite guests to attend. For more information about rotary, visit campbellsvillerotary.org.

The Smoke Free Kentucky group was invited to come to Campbellsville by attorney and Campbellsville City Council member David Nunery.

Nunery said Smoke Free officials contacted him about the initiative because he was one of several involved with drafting the city's smoking ban.

He said he believes in a statewide ban, if it doesn't include so many exceptions that the underlying spirit of the ban is impacted.

Campbellsville City Council members approved an ordinance banning smoking in all public buildings in Campbellsville in June 2009.

The ordinance bans smoking in all enclosed public places except homes, private organizations that are not hosting a public event and retail tobacco stores where the smoke does not infiltrate into an area where smoking is prohibited.

Violations begin at $25 for the first offense and top out at $250 for the third and subsequent offenses.

Anyone who smokes in an area where smoking is prohibited and who refuses to extinguish smoking materials may be required to leave the premises. If they refuse, they will be subject to prosecution for trespassing. Smoking is also prohibited within 15 feet of the main outside entrance for the public.

Nunery said he believes the city's ban is one of the best ordinances that has been written. He said he hopes any proposed statewide ban wouldn't water down the city ordinance.

Jane Wheatley, Taylor Regional Hospital CEO, says her hospital is a smoke-free campus and she supports the proposed statewide smoking ban.

She said TRH personnel have told Smoke Free Kentucky officials that they will help with the effort in any way they can.

Taylor County Judge/Executive Eddie Rogers said county officials haven't been approached about adopting a county-wide smoking ban in public places.

He said some discussion was mentioned when the Campbellsville City Council was in the midst of adopting a citywide ban, however, but no one asked the Taylor County Fiscal Court to do the same.

He said he believes magistrates would be open to discussing the idea if it was proposed.

State Sen. Jimmy Higdon, R-Lebanon, said there have been several statewide smoking ban bills proposed during legislative sessions.

"I'm a proponent of local control," he said.

Higdon said he believes communities, like Campbellsville, should be able to work together and get their own bans passed.

"It has worked," he said. "It's a very simple process."

Higdon said he will be glad to study the bill backed by Smoke Free Kentucky and welcomes discussion about it.

Smoke Free Kentucky officials are currently touring the state to speak to various media outlets, individuals and legislators.

Upcoming tour dates are listed below. All times are eastern standard.

• Tuesday, July 31 — Kentucky Chamber of Commerce in Frankfort at noon.

• Wednesday, Aug. 1 — Amon's Sugar Shack in Somerset from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m.
